Who has to do what?

In this pairwork activity, students practice the use of have to, don't have to, has to, and doesn't have to for obligation.

Before class, make one copy of the worksheets for each pair of students.

Procedure

Pre-teach or revise the use of have to, don't have to, has to, and doesn't have to for obligation.

Ask the students what they have to do each day. Elicit answers from around the class.

Next, divide the students into pairs (A and B) and distribute the worksheets.

Tell the students not to show their worksheet to their partner.

Read through the instructions on the worksheet and explain that the students are going to ask each other questions to find out who has to do which household chore.

Let the students begin the activity using the example as a guide.

When they have finished, have them complete Exercise B.

Answer Key

1. Ethan and Isaac have to do the laundry, but Chloe and Lily don't have to.
2. Ethan has to wash the dishes, but Isaac doesn't have to.
3. Chloe has to cook dinner, and Lily has to mow the lawn.
4. Lily has to mow the lawn, but her brothers and sister don't have to.

Go through the answers as a class and address any problem areas.

Then have the students complete Exercise C and elicit the answers.

Answer Key

1. I have to clean the house and cook dinner. Chloe
2. Well, I have to wash the dishes and do the laundry. Ethan
3. I have to do the laundry and cook dinner. Isaac
4. Well, I have to mow the lawn by myself. Lily

Finally, in pairs, have the students discuss which household chores they have to do.
